Gethsemane.

Long in silence, wrapt in vision,
Kneelt the suffering Savior there
Bent beneath sin's deep incision,
When He made that soul wrought
prayer.
So like him must every mortal
Deaf to every earthly sound
Bow his frame at heaven's portal
Sorrow laden on the ground—
While in dark Gethsemane.

True on Cavalry's cross he languished,
Three sad hours His body hung,
Arms wide open in His anguish
With each nerve and muscle wrung.
But the night before man's pardon
With not one follow'r near to see,
In the darkness of a garden,
Did He beg it might not be.
When in dark Gethsemane.

So with mankind since creation,
To what heights or depths we go,
Nothing in anticipation
Ever pays the debt we owe.
Learn we from the garden's story,
How the victory's to be won,
If we hope to share His glory,
We must say "thy will be done,"
As in dark Gethsemane.

To Decorate Star Where Jefferson Davis Stood.

"For a number of years it was the custom of Mrs. Harvey E. Jones to make a wreath and place it on Memorial Day on the bronze star at the capitol which marks the spot where Jefferson Davis stood when he was inaugurated. This wreath was made from an evergreen which Mrs. Jones brought from Mount Vernon.

"Since the death of Mrs. Jones several months ago, her daughter, Mrs. James Maury of Mobile, has been asked by the association to place this wreath on the star, and it will be her most sacred duty, as it was one her mother loved so dearly," says the Montgomery Advertiser.

"It was the idea of the late Mrs. Sarah Bozler Halls Janney to place this star at the capitol, and so, during her lifetime, she always on Memorial Day placed fresh flowers on it. Since her death recently her little grand-daughter, Miss Margaret Spencer Janney, has been asked by the association to place flowers there.

"The Ladies' Memorial Association has appointed Mrs. Robert Halls of Montgomery, as chairman of the star committee. This committee will take care of the star on Memorial Day this year."

Mrs. William Mellard Connor and little son, Billie, of the Philippines, arrived in this city yesterday and will spend some time with her sister, Miss Mary Lou Peyton. Mrs. Connor's many friends are delighted to have her with them again after an absence of four years.

Mrs. J. L. Walker expects to attend grand opera in Atlanta this week.

Senior Recital is Given

By Miss Musselwhite.

Miss Zaida Musselwhite gave her Senior recital on Saturday evening in the Music Hall.

Miss Musselwhite is one of Miss Etta Atwell's most talented pupils and her playing on this occasion showed unusual artistic ability and remarkable temperament. The program opened with two Brahms numbers. The Gluck-Brahms is especially attractive and Miss Musselwhite played it with splendid appreciation. Her interpretation of the beautiful and difficult Shumann Concerto deserves special mention. The program closed with a lovely group of MacDowell numbers in which this young artist displayed excellent talent and training. Miss Musselwhite showed poise and technical skill throughout her entire program.

Mississippi Woman Headed Committee.

A recent special from Greenwood says:

"The fund of $5,000 for placing a memorial window to the women of the south in war-time in the building being erected by Congress in Washington to the memory of the women of the north and south during the war is now completed. It was raised throughout the south under the direction of Mrs. A. M. Kimbrough of this town, who is chairman of the committee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Congress raised $750,000 for the building which will stand in Washington as a monument to the women of the north and south, and the Confederate Daughters were allowed to place there a window of their own."

A LONELY LITTLE BOY.

I'm such a lonely little boy what ain't nobody's pet,
Folks treat me like a grownup man when I ain't seven yet.
The other boys—they ain't like me—they like to play and fight,
But, oh! I wish I had someone to tuck me in at night.

When it is day the boys and me—we have the mostest fun!
We laughs and has such good old times, but when the day is done
And I'm left alone at home, a-swingin' on the gate,
I jes' stares down that dark ol' road road an' wait, an' wait, an' wait.

I wonder how 'twould feel to have some ev'nin' I should see
Somebody comin' down the road a-smilin' jess at me?
Somebody who would lift me down an' kiss my cheek an' say:
"Come in to rest, my little son, you've done enough today!"

I wonder how 'twould feel to have them tuck me up in bed,
An' tuck me in an' smooth my hair, an' when my prayers are said
To have 'em kiss me once again, an' ask if all is right,
An' maybe stay to tell me wondrous fairy tales some night.

But I ain't got no mother like the other boys I know,
For mine is up among the stars where all lost mothers go.
They say that before she went away she used to call me "Dear,"
An' tell me lots of pretty tales when she wa livin' here.

I wish that I could feel her arms around me now and then
I think that things might be different if she could come again,
I bet that she knows that I'm down here awishin' for her smile,
I'm such a lonely little boy what ain't nobody's child.

"The Man from Home," at College Chapel Monday Evening.

The Senior class will present the second class play of the year when Booth Tarrington's "The Man from Home," appears in the college chapel on Monday evening, April 24th under the direction of Miss Emma Ody Pohl.

Miss Marie Smith, who played "Lauman," the get-rich-quick millionaire, will play the leading role. "Daniel Vorhees Pike," of Kokomo, Indiana. Miss Emma Chandler will play "Miss Granger Simpson," the Angolized American ward of Mr. Pike. Miss Chandler, who for four years has been the leading woman in the class plays, possesses unusual dramatic ability. The other members of the cast are:

The Grand Duke Vossilli Vossilvitch, Henrietta Baker
The Earl of How Castle, Dick Fitzgerald
The Hon. Almerie St. Auburn, Luna Austin
Ivanoff, Rosa Spann
Horace Granger Simpson, Grace Massengale
Ribiere, Yvellette Wildberger
Mariano, Raiford Rush
Michele, Nancy Jackson
Comte de Champigny, Louise Wheeler

Lady Cruch, Louise Haffin
The scene of the play is laid in Sorrento, Italy, the action taking place in the Hotel Regina Margherita and in the gardens of the hotel. A charming touch of local color is given in the songs of the Italian peasants.

The theme of "The Man from Home" is the triumph of great-hearted simplicity over mercenary snobbery and artificiality. Horace Granger Simpson and his sister, Ethel, two rich and ambitious young Americans, are anxious to enjoy what they term "the nobler things of life. They go abroad and there fall into the hands of the mercenary Lord Howcastle, a representative of the "fine flowers of Europe." Howcastle plans to marry Ethel to his vacuous son, the Honorable Almerie St. Auburn, in order to get possession of her fortune. Ethel, dazzled by Almerie's noble name, is only too willing to give herself and her money in exchange for the title of the "Countess of Howcastle." At the psychological moment Daniel Vorhees Pike arrives from Kokomo, Indiana, gauges the true character of the family with western shrewdness and refuses to allow Ethel to settle her fortune on Almerie. Through a series of fortunate circumstances, Pike is able to disclose the dishonorable past of Lord Howcastle and to cast a blight on the "fine flower," whose roots extend as far back as Creecy and Agincourt.

Von Igel Held.

New York, April 22.—Notwithstanding the German ambassador's demands for the release of Wolfe Von Igel and the return of the papers seized at the time of his arrest in the former office here of Captain Franz Von Papen, recalled German military attaché, United States Attorney Marshall has reiterated his determination to retain not only Von Igel but the documents.

Federal officers do not expect to bring Von Papen to trial. While he is no longer immune from prosecution by the civil authorities of the United States civil authorities since he ceased to be a member of the German embassy staff, the offense with which he is charged is not extraditable.

The indictment, it is understood, was returned with the sanction of the Department of Justice and it is believed to have established a precedent. No effort will be made to have Von Papen brought here, but the indictment will be held in abeyance in case he should ever return to the United States.

The indictment charges in addition to the Welland canal plot, that it was "the intent and purpose of the defendants to blow up and destroy other property in Canada."

Von Papen was designated by the federal officials as the "brains" of the alleged conspiracy. The other three men whose names were made public were, according to the indictment, mere agents and emissaries of Von Papen.

The five men alleged to have carried dynamite and other explosives in suit cases to Niagara Falls, where the plot was abandoned were Horst Von der Goltz, also known as Franz Hobart Wachendorf and as Bridgeman Taylor, Fritz von Goltz, Carl Teshendler and Joachim Busse. Von der Goltz, who was lately arrested in England, returned to the United States accompanied by a detective from Scotland Yard and gave important testimony to the authorities. John T. Ryan, an attorney, and prominent in politics in Buffalo, was named in the indictment as the man who acted as intermediary in the payment of money to Von der Goltz by Von Papen.

Capt. Tauscher, head of the Tauscher Arms Company here, supplied the explosives to Von der Goltz 'the indictment charges, while Von Papen furnished "electric generators, fuses and wires."

In August, 1914, according to the indictment charges, five sailors from the interned German liner Bavaria, at Baltimore, were brought to New York by the alleged conspirators to aid in the plot, but they were subsequently returned to their ship. Arrangements then were made, it is charged, for the five men named in the indictment to undertake the expedition.

A Card.

I feel very grateful indeed to everyone who supported me in the recent race for councilman of the fourth ward. Though defeated, I am proud of the vote I received. I realize that each has his preference and that the exercise of one's franchise for his preference is a privilege that to him belongs, and therefore I have only the kindest feelings for all who did not vote for me.

Mr. A. F. Stinson Dies.

Mrs. John A. Stinson has returned from Greenwood, where she attended the funeral of her father-in-law, Mr. A. F. Stinson. Deceased, who was the father of the late Mr. John Stinson, was well known in this city, having visited here on several occasions. News of his death was received here with much regret by his numerous friends in this city.
